House.-The morning hour being dispensed with, a discussion arose as to the propriety of continuing the debate upon the general deficiency appropriation bill in Committee of the Wh. le.

Mr. Reagan, of Texas, desired to speak upon the Inter-State Commerce Bill, but a great deal of opposition was manifested on the Republican side.

Mr. Reagau proceeded to speak on the subject of inter-State Commerce, but was intercupted by Mr Valentine, of Nebraska, who made a point of order, that he must address himself to the question under con-sideration. It being evident, however, that the chair would overrule the point, Mr. Valentine withdrew it, preferring that Mr. Reagan should proceed by unanimous consent than that he should do so by virtue of the chair's decision. Mr. Reagan then resumed his speech, criticizing fea-tures of his (Henderson's) bill, and advocating the passage of what is known as the "Reagan bill."

The Prize Ring.

COLLIERS, W. VA., June 1 .- The Goss-Ryan prize fight took place here this morning and resulted in the defeat of Goss after fighting 85 rounds in one hour and twentyeight minutes. The ring was pitched at 4:25 in a ravine near this place and about three hundred yards from the Pennsylvania boundary line. Some three hundred persons were present, Pittsburg being well represented with a slight sprinkling from New York city and Troy. o'clock two deputy sheriffs appeared and warned those present that requisitions would be issued by the Governor of West Virginia for the arrest of the principals. hell Fairchild was chosen referee. The fight was closely contested and but for the age of Goss would probably have lasted still longer. In the 85th round Goss's sec-onds claimed a foul and it not being allowed refused to fight their man longer and the referee awarded the fight to Ryan. The latter is terribly punished about the face and body but held out. Goss is not apparently much cut or disfigured but became winded.

pointed to name a temporary chairman for the Convention, reported Judge Hoar, of Massachusetts, and report was agreed to without division. A resolution was then adopted that should Cameron through sickness or any other cause be unable to present the name of Hoar to the Convention, Mr. Chandler, as Chairman of the Committee reporting his name, should perform that office. After the apportionment of tickets the Committee adjourned until to-day. Col. J. H. Roberts will be appointed temporary secretary.

Bull-Dozing in New York.

NEW YORK, June 1.-As the colored ompanies composing the rear of the procession yesterday were returning from Cypress Hill Cemetery, to the station, of the Rapid Transit Road, in East New York, they were assaulted by a gaug of roughs, and a riot ensued, in which a policeman named Hartfield received a decrease. named Hartfield received a dangerous sabre cut on the head. The colored men are said to have charged the police and roughs alike, but being overpowered by numbers, were compelled to run for their lives. The streets were filled with the excited mob, and several persons were injured. The Captain and Sergeant of the Veteran (colored) Guard were arrested.

MIDNIGHT REPORTS.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—SENATE.—The river and harbor bill was read for action upon the Committee's amendments.
On motion of Mr. Withers, of Virginia, the amendment reducing from $5,000 to $3,500 the appropriation for improving the harbor at Onancock, Va., was disagreed to. The amendment striking out the $10,000 appropriation for improving the Brunswick, Ga., harbor was opposed by Senators Brown and Hill, of Georgia. The amendment was finally disagreed to.

The amendments increasing the appropriation from $40,000 to $70,000 for the improvement of the Cape Fear river, North Carolina; increasing the appropriation from $15,000 to $45,000 for improving Neuse river, North Carolina; increasing the appropriation from $3,000 to $9,000 for the Pamlico river, North Carolina, and for striking out the appropriations of $2,000 for the Little Roanoke river and $2,000 for Tar river, North Carolina, were all concur-

The amendment increasing the Trent river, North Carolina, appropriation from $5,000 to $10,000, was also concurred in. The amendment reducing from $250,000 to $200,000 the appropriation for improving the Mississippi river, between the mouths of the Ohio and Illinois rivers, was op-posed by Senators Davis, of Illinois, and Vest, and rejected.

House.-At the conclusion of Mr. Reagan's remarks this morning some further discussion ensued when the deficiency bill was read section by section for an

Mr. Bland, of Missouri, moved to strike Mr. Bland, of Missouri, moved to strike out the paragraph appropriating twenty thousand dollars to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to provide storage for silver coin, and said that the Secretary of the Treasury had entered into an agreement with the New York clearing house, by which have fused to may Government balwhich he r fused to pay Government bal-ances in silver coin. The Secretary, he said, had stated that he had not and would not pay out silver coin except in such quantities as not to disturb the gold stan-dard. He now asked Congress to back him up by appropriating for the storage of coin. When the Secretary came forward confessing to the country and to Congress that he was violating the law of the land, and asked Congress to sustain him, it was time for the House to put a stop to it. Mr. Dwight, of New York, moved to increase the appropriation from $20,000 to 875,000. Rejected.

Mr. Bland finally withdrew his motion to strike out the paragraph and moved as a substitute an amendment authorizing a substitute an amendment authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to relieve the Treasury vaults of hoarded silver, by paying in standard silver dollars to the amounts appropriated in the general de-ficiency bill, and also appropriating ten thousand dollars to provide for the storage of so much coin as may be returned to the Treasury for silver certificates.

Mr. Ewing, of Ohio, favored the amendment and in his remarks asserted that th Secretary of the Treasury did not want people to get silver certificates, and justi-fied the assertion by pointing to the fact that in more than one year less than ten million of certificates had been issued, while the amount of silver hoarded in the Treasury was $33,000,000.

Considerable discussion followed, participated in by Mr. Warren, of Ohio, Mr. Kelly, of Pennsylvania, Mr. Cox. of New York, and others, in which the subjects of single and double standard, and the effect of the remonetization of silver were discussed, when the Committee, without dis-posing of Mr. Blaud's amendment, rose. Mr King, of Louisiana, introduced a resolution for the appointment of a committee to investigate the expenditure of the appropriations for the Red and Wichita rivers for the last ten years. Referred. Also a resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to enter into contracts for keeping open the mouth of Red river for five years. Referred, Adjourned.

The National Republican Convention.

CHICAGO, June 1 .- In the National Convention the Grant men offered the same compromise for the pending difficulty, and committees of conference from rival par-ties were appointed to consider the question. After two hours' session this after-noon, the committee adjourned.

A member says the conclusions reached were that Cameron should remain Chairman of the Committee; that the regular delegation from Louisiana, Kansas, Utah and Illinois, should be admitted to temporary organization, that the contests in those States should be submitted to the Committee on Credentials, and that the unit rule should be enforced or not, at the pleasure of the Convention; that Conkling, Logan and Cameron have pledged themselves in no way to interfere in regard to the action of the Convention respecting the unit rule.

The New York delegation held a secret caucus to-day, to discuss the question o the standing by resolutions of the New York Convention. Mr. Conkling presided. A motion was made that the chairman be instructed to cast the seventy as one vote This was amended by authorizing the chairman to get the vote of each delegate and report the same to the Convention.

Mr. Conkling said that if, as chairman of the delegation, fifty of them instructed him to cast the entire vote for Grant he would do it, and then if the other twenty wanted to appeal to the Convention they might do so, and a roll call of the States could be made.

A motion to sustain the unit rule finally passed by a vote of 45 to 23.

Negro Exodus Committee.

Washington, June 1.—Senator Vance, in behalf of a majority of the Senate Exodus Committee to-day, submitted a report, which, after setting forth the amount of labor devoted to inquiry, and reporting that "itnesses had been examined from States of North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi Louistana, Texas, Mississippi Louistana, Mississippi Louistana bana, Mississippi, Louistana, Texas, Missouri, Kansas, and Indiana, say we think it clearly established, from testimony, that the following may be said to be causes which induced this emigration of colored people from various portions of Southern to Northern States, chiefly Kansas and Indiana. The exodus to Indiana was undoubtedly induced in a great degree by Northern politicians and negro leaders in their employ, and in the employ of railroad

THE DUTY OF DEMOCRATS.

This, in a word, is to stop wrangling about men. All men, or nearly all, have preferences as to candidates, and there is no reason why those preferences should be concealed. We have very plainly stated, weeks ago, what seemed to us the necessary qualifications for the Democratic candidate for Governor this year, and as plainly that the present Governor possesses them all. That he has in a high degree the necessary mental qualifications, nobody will deny; that he has displayed sound administrative ability and loval devotion to the State, all will admit; that he has the personal elements necessary to win popular favor, and that he is one of the most effective public speakers in the State, have been amply proved. The Democratic people of North Carolina, we believe, recognize these facts and have long since determined that he shall be re-elected. There are Democrats who think it might be better to choose another to lead the party in the hot campaign before us, and unfortunately some of these have thought it advantageous to make a savage warfare of what should have been a generous rivalry.

In Kentucky, there has been very much the same warfare waged against Mr. TIL-DEN, that has been made in North Carolina against the Governor, and the Courier-Journal wisely counsels the party. Tha within parties there should be preferences, it says, is at once a fact which cannot be disputed, and a condition inevitable to the composition and construction of political bodies. Nor is it a circumstance to be re gretted, since we can only determine by conflict of preferences who in the end may be the fittest man for this and that emergency. As long as political associates confine their differences within the limits which discretion sets upon a decent and reasonable favoritism, no harm can follow. When, however, preference produces pre judice, and prejudice faction, then is there danger, and parties should beware. The danger is, of course, proportionately great or less, according as the party menaced in weak or strong. In a State like Kentucky for example, there is a good deal of margin for ground and lofty tumbling, and it would go hard if one should fall ouside the Democratic line. But, even in Kentucky prudence is not allowed to go a-begging. and there is, by consequence, necessity to cultivate the spirit of fellowship and to repress intolerance.

The Democratic people want to do a nearly what is best and what is right as they can bring within the grasp of their intelligence. They are well informed, too, upon current issues; and they can neither be brow-beaten out of their opinions. nor imposed upon by subterfuge. In their primary and county meetings the people will decide this question of candidates, and the convention two weeks hence will record the people's will.

For one, we shall contend for a rationa and fraternal spirit among Democrats Making no concealment of our own views of the party's policy, we may yet defy the most captious to find any expression of our own or our correspondents calculated to weaken any Democratic interest in the coming campaign, or to impair our own usefulness in the great battle before us. The record is complete; and the time has come to close it : the time has come to cease wrangling among ourselves. There is an enemy in front of us. The time has come to attend to him. Presently the din of battle will envelop us all, and he who thinks it will be cheap, or safe, or easy, little recks the temper of the time, the nature of the contest and the character of the combatants. Whoever is named to lead us, shall we not rally to him? And, rallying by his side, shall we look askance at one another? Not so, not so! Rather let us fix our eyes upon the flag we have followed so often, tattered and torn though it be, yet waving above us still, bearing no such words as "Anybody to beat TILDEN." or "to beat JARVIS." nor those other outgivings of faction-"Our preference first, and then the party"-but shining through the very rents and seams. that tell of glories lost and won, the broad and simple rule of Democratic faith-the hope of a Democratic future—issues, not men-our State, our country, our party and our nominees.

NOTHING PUZZLES the average writer or speaker like the subject of discount. A man buys a horse at $50 and sells him at $100; that is 100 per cent. profit on his investment. Or he buys a horse at $100 and sells him for $50, that is 50 per cent. loss on his investment. Many would say that it was 100 per cent. loss, forgetting that while the former transaction doubles the cost, and is 100 per cent. profit, the latter is a sale for half the cost, and is therefore but 50 per cent. loss. A decline of 50 per cent, is a fall of one-half: a de cline of 100 per cent, takes away the whole

CHICAGO.

To-day the Convention meets at Chicago So far, the Philadelphia Times says, all is 'without form and void," except the compact organization in the interest of General GRANT and under the surpassingly able management of CONKLING, CAMERON and LOGAN, The only hope of defeating this well-handled organization lies in a thorough union of the BLAINE and SHERMAN forces under a leadership commanding the confidence of both, and although such a combination is more probable now than it was a few days ago the way to it is still hedged about with difficulties caused by the un willingness of either of these candidates to ride behind the other even for a day, and the inability of Mr. BLAINE's lieutenants to see beyond the tips of their noses. It must be remembered, too, that the GRANT managers have not begun to use their most powerful weapons for the capture of doubtful delegations. The South presents a field which is ripe for the harvest, but CAMERON will not put his sickle therein until he knows exactly how much is wanted to fill his barns. Many an unpledged delegate and some who are pledged are anxious enough for the ravishing to begin. There is no certainty about the outcome of ing in the GRANT lines. SENATOR EDMUNDS has written a letter positively refusing the use of his name at Chicago: and as to Secretary SHERMAN, all begin to think that he is swinging his boom around where he can hitch it to the GRANT boom and make himself the candidate for Vice-President. I will state. In the meaning of the Census Act, "a farm is what is owned or leas ed by one man and cultivated under his care." Therefore in the case cited by you there are four farms.

In Schedule 2, under the general head "TENURE," there are three subdivision which show the relation the farmer sustains to the land. The entry should be made thus:

John Jones, should be marked as owner n column No. 2, then under the proper head, 100 acres tilled, 200 in forest. Sam Jones, as renter, column No. 3 and 00 acres tilled.

Jim Thompson, as renter, column No. 4 and 50 acres tilled.

Tim Roberson, as renter, column No. 4 and 50 acres tilled. The number of acres in each case whether tilled or in forest must be entered under the proper head.

If the whole should be entered to th owner then it will be put down twice. The object of the Census is not s much to find out how much land a man owns, as it is to find out how much is cultivated, how it is cultivated, by the owner or tenant, and how much it produces. Being ready and willing to give all the nformation at my command.

I am respectfully, JOSEPH H. CARDWELL, Supervisor Per R. W. BEST, Clerk.

MRS. MARY BAYARD CLARKE, EDITOR

[All books received during the week will b mentioned by name in the next succeeding issue, and, if worthy of it, receive a longer notice after careful reading. They may be sent either by mail, or in packages of a dozen by express, and should always be addressed to Mrs. MARY BAYARD CLARKE, Newbern, N. C.]

"The Life and Writings of Henry Thomas Buckle;" By A. H. Huth; D. Appleton & Co., is a charming book of nearly five hundred pages; printed in large clear type, and composed almost entirely of extracts from Buckle's letters and diary. These first are numerous, as the author tells us in the preface that before Buckle ever published a line even his most trivial notes were invariably kept by those to whom they were addressed who cheerfully gave them up for selections. Buckle was the author of one book only and did not live to complete that, but The "History of Civilization," though a broken shaft, is one of the grandest literary monuments that record the name of any writer. For fourteen years he was reading and collecting material for this work. and owned a library of 20,000 volumes from every one of which he had sucked the marrow. His father was a staunch churchman and his mother, during his boyhood and youth, a Calvinist; his biographer says of her: "She suffered much from her cold and rigid belief, for half a life tlme;" but she was of too womanly and affectionate a nature to let it interfere with her kindliness and gaiety. though "views full of terror and despair with their wild visions of vengeance and condemnation, which have shattered the grace of many a noble mind, wrought into hers a deep-seated misery which no external circumstances could alleviate, and which only passed away when she had conquered her own freedom through years of thought

Her husband dying when her only son was just nineteen, she devoted the rest of her life to him, and the affection between them, as showed by his letters and diary, was most beautiful; his devotion to her being more like that of a lover than a son. At the age of twenty Buckle conceived the idea of writing his "History of Civilization," and having an independent income devoted his whole time to it, refusing tempting offers from editors of reviews and other periodicals for articles which would have taken off his attention from the object of his life; so that, at the publication of his first volume, like Lord Byron, he "woke one morning to find him self famous." But it was a fame for which he had toiled and well earned. If Herbert Spencer is the founder of Science, of Sociology, Buckle is the father of the Science of History. Opposed as one may be to his philosophy, there is so much erudition, thought, and hard common sense in what he writes, that even the most orthordox mind must pause over his argument, and investigate the truths which he writes. The key-note of his philosophy is that the progress of civilization depends not on man's moral but intellectual cultivation and advancement; not with individuals. The progress of mankind he compares to a ship full passengers, ever moving on, assisted or retarded by the weather, while the individual passengers walk to and fro without affecting its progress. His mother lived to see the first volume of his book in print. Chapter by chapter, almost page by page, it had been planned with her, commented on by her, every speculation as it arose had been talked over with her, and the only words with which she was not familiar before it went to press was the dedication to her. She had concealed her weakness and suffering as much as possible from him so as not to retard his work, and feared she might die without seeing it in print and enjoying the fame he had so well earned. Her death was such a blow to him that he had to give up all work for a time, and his health. always delicate, suffered severely from the shock, coming as it did when his mind was suffering from overtaxation. The second volume was dedicated to the memory of his mother. He did not live to complete the book, dying three years after her, at the early age of 40, of typhoid fever, at Damascus, having gone on a trip to Egypt and the Holy Land, partly for his health and partly to collect material for his grand work. He took on this expedition two boys, sons of his friend Mr. Huth, for he was very fond of children, and these little fellows seem to have been a great source of interest to him; one of them. Alfred Henry Huth, is the author of this biography of his friend, and has well carried out the motto on the title page-

"I am dead;

Thou livest: report me and my cause aright To the unsatisfied." Professor Huxley's volume introductory to the Science Primers edited by him, Roscoe and Balfour Stewart, aims to convey a general idea of the nature and importance of scientific knowledge, to explain science as a method of thinking, and to show its practical use. The first part, nature and Science, treats of causes and effects, and what is meant by the "laws of Nature;" the second division is devoted to "material objects," next we have "mineral bodies," then "living bodies and then a few observations on immaterial objects. It is intended to introduce the use of the Science Primers, nearly a million of which have been called for in England alone, besides the large sales in this country.

The editor of the Popular Science Monthly gives a very good article in the June number on the "misuse of the Science Primers" which ought to be read by all teachers who use them.

In a town not a thousand miles from the 'Hub" a gentleman invited home to dinner one day one of the deacons of the church which he attended. Being seated at the table the guest was asked to offer a blessing, which he did. This proceeding greatly excited the curiosity of the gentleman's five year-old-son, who sat beside the deacon and interviewed him on the subject. What was that you said?" he began. "It was a blessing on the food we are about to eat," replied the deacon. "A what?" "Why, a blessing. Don't your father ask a blessing at the table?" yes, but he don't say it that way." "How does he say it?" "Why, he sits down and looks at the table and says, 'Oh, the d—l! is this all you've got for dinner?'" much impressed with this report from Ohio, and members of the former delega-feeling toward Grant in their State. The same report comes from Wisconsin, where the German vote is heavy. The bitter-attracting the attention of the whole body of delegates. It already exceeds anything of the kind which has occurred in the his-

Horses have a sense and a fair undertanding of what fun is. I had one once that objected seriously to being caught up again after he had been turned into pasture, and he would give all the trouble

he possibly could. If I took the halter and attempted to catch him he would let me come right close to him, but just as I was about to throw the strap around his neck he would lower his head, throw up his heels and dart off, looking back to see whether I followed. After his repeating this manœuvre half a dozen times I would turn to leave in disgust and walk rapidly away. Then compunction always seized behind me, set his teeth carefully in the sleeve of my dress and jerk at it as much as to say, "There, can't you take a joke? I was only in fun and I'm ready to come with you now." And it takes only so short a time to make a horse love you and lose all fear of you. At one time I was acquainted with a horse in Alameda whose reputation for gentleness did not equal his beauty. He was a large handsome bay; and when I first approached his keeper, a big burly English hostler, with the purpose of taming the horse and with a handful of sugar, he refused to let me go near him. "Couldn't allow it no-ways, miss," he said; "that 'orse would bite your 'and right off if you 'eld it out to him with the sugar." I persevered how-ever. The "'orse" didn't "bite my 'and right off," but took his sugar like a lamb, and less than two weeks from that time he would whinny and paw the ground with impatience if he heard my voice in the stable and I did not go directly to him.

To be sure he once nearly squeezed me to death against the side of his stall, but it was sheer good will and affection, not viciousness, for William, who had hur-

An almost unbroken drought has prevailed in this vicinity for six weeks. Even the casual traveller may see that the face of nature is brown and sere, reminding one of September rather than of May. The intense dry heat has left its effects on every growing thing, and as the snowfall last Winter was light, the natural moisture of the earth has been swiftly exhausted. But now that the long dry spell is broken, we may look for natural and seasonable showers, and that the hope of the husbandman shall not fail.

Keeping the Peace.

[From the New York World.] In Presque Isle County, towards Mackiaw, is a beautiful lake-hight Grand lake-on whose shore stands a clubhouse owned by sundry fish-loving citizens of Adrian, Mich. The country around is pretty much as nature made itrough-and the few backwoodsmen living there are much like the country. One of them, named Crawford, was lately elected Justice of the Peace. A wood-chopper made complaint that a certain raftsman had beaten him, and asked for a warrant for the offender's arrest. The Justice's entire stock of legal blanks consisted of a summons and a subpoena. After spending some time vainly trying to make these papers fit the case, he got mad, flung down his papers and addressed the complainant thus: "See here, mister, this Court is bound to see justice done in this township. You pay me $2.50, costs of court, show me the man, and the Court will lick him in two minutes." Complainant paid the costs and pointed out the man. The "Court," with majesty on his brow and sleeves rolled up, went for the offender and in sixty seconds thrashed him to the full content of both parties. The Court then put on his coat and remarked that "he was a peace officer, and wished it understood that this Court would preserve the peace, and any man who thought he could raise thunder in that neck of woods would have to try the case with the Court personally." No other case has since been

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES. Farmers' Hopes and Fears.

IS IT So?

It is claimed that the presence of tomato vines banishes insects. If it be true, how easy to protect your cucumber, squash, and melon vines by planting a tomato vine with each hill. The juice of the tomato would doubtless prove an excellent insecticide. Try it. Take tomato vines, bruise and soak them, and sprinkle the water on your vines and plants that may be infested with insects, and test the matter.

CORN FODDER.

Plantings for Corn Fodder may still be nade, but to guard against drought, the and should be very deeply broken and brought into very fine condition, and about two bushels of seed per acre sown, in drills three feet apart. Good cultivation is essential to a good crop, and so is heavy manuring-well-rotted stable manure (not fresh), killed or crushed cotton seed, or cotton seed meal are suited to it. Cut when the ears are forming—it does not acquire its full sweetness and "body" till that stage of growth.

SWEET POTATOES.

Sweet potato slips may be put out dur-ing the whole of this month—the early varieties through July also. Towards the end of June plantings may be made of the vines of those first put out, if they have made growth. Have the land bedded, run a shallow furrow on top of bed, place two or three vines side by side all along the furrow, and with a hoe cover at such intervals as to leave a small portion of the vines uncovered as far from each other as hills of potatoes usually are. If the weather is not too dry, they will soon take root and grow, and the potatoes produced from them are the best to keep through the winter. Stubble fields are well suited to these late potatoes. Potatoes need little working-just sufficient to keep out grass and weeds and so much loosening of the middles with the plough as to render a drawing up or hilling of the plants easy. It is important that in doing this, the vines be not covered, as they strike root very easily, and will expend their energies in developing small potatoes through the middles. For the same reason the vines should be loosened up from the ground, after heavy rains all through the season.

LAST WORKING OF CORN. If corn has been well worked, no large weeds and grass will be in the field, and the laying by is simple and easy. A light, thorough surface-pulverizing ploughing is all that is needed. If the field is foul (especially if bottom land,) much hoeing will be necessary-a thing which should never happen on a well-conducted farm unless excessive rains interfere with ploughing. It is extremely important that this last ploughing should be shallow, so as not to cut the "brace" or "spur" roots which have now clustered around the base of the stalk. These roots seem to play a very important part in the economy of the plant—the "bracing" is doubtless a very secondary consideration. They penetrate deep into the ground, something like the tap-roots of other plants, and send forth numerous comparatively short fibrous functions, obviously, is to absorb the mois-ture which is collected by the leaves during heavy dews and light rains, and which descending down the stalk, s.nks into the earth immediately around its base. This water is usually quite strongly impregnated with ammonia, a favorite food of the corn plant. These numerous absorbers make the manuring of corn in the hill so generally successful. It is good practice to sow peas in the corn field at the last ploughing. We have seen recently an account of some experiments made to test the question of how much the corn crop is cut off by the presence of the peas— the difference in yield of two portions, one with peas the other not, was scarcely ap-preciable—the pea crop and the fertilizing of the land was shown to be almost a clear gain. Where the seasons are at all short, early varieties of peas should be sown in the corn, as they cannot make much headway till the fodder is pulled.

COTTON Push cotton by frequent ploughings, and give it so much hoeing as may be neessary to keep it perfectly clean. June is the month for catton to make weed-after that we wish it to make fruit-and frequent ploughings hasten rapid growth. After fruiting begins, the ploughings should be at longer intervals. Bring to a final stand as soon as possible. What that should be. depends on many circumstances-nature of land, of season, of depth of soil, amount of manuring, &c., &c. On good fertile clay soils in this vicinity, well-prepared and manured, good distance—giving each plant an opportunity to expand and develop itself fully—we find produces the best results .- Southern Cultivator.

Smashing an Indiana Divorce.

[From the New York Times.]

A man in Toledo, with a wife and three children, became enamored of an intriguing woman and procured a divorce in an obscure Indiana town. He did not say a word about it at home. One day his oldest daughter received a parcel of patterns from a lady in Indianapolis. It was an old copy of a country newspaper. An advertisement attracted her attention. It was an application for a divorce for her father from her mother. The young lady decided to visit her friend in Indianapolis and to make an excursion to the county where the divorce had been granted. She returned with ample evidence that her mother was living with a divorced man. She showed her father a copy of the advertisement, and told him that she had found out all about him. He walked the floor for a minute, and then turned to his daughter. "I have been a very bad and guilty man," he said ; "but it is not too late to make amends. I will go to her and confess all, and undo what I have done." "Confess first to me," said the girl. "It is Miss—who is the woman in the case, is it not?" "It is." thought as much. Are you to marry her?" "I was to have married her." "You must not go to mamma yet. She must be your wife again before she knows the fearful truth." The young lady was equal to the emergency. The twentieth anniversary of her parents' marriage was close at hand She invited all their friends and had them married again by the same minister who performed the ceremony twenty years be-fore. She took pains to have her mother's rival present, and remarked to her in a corner: "Pape and mamma are married again as fast as the law can do it. Whether the truth is ever known depends upon you. Papa will never tell it, I am sure, and for mamma's sake I never shall. But it does seem to me, dear, that some other climate would suit your constitution better than

CITY AND COUNTY NOTES :-

Dr. Royster is very much better. The receipts of internal revenue yesterday were $819.88.

Rev. Dr. Geo. Patterson of Wilmington is in the city.

Cotton is quietly and peacefully dropping down out of sight.

The Mayor sent one drunk to the guard house for twelve hours yester-

It was raining at Neuse river when the train from Weldon passed there last night.

The first day of June started the marrying boom for the month with one license.

Justice Barbee had a single case before him vesterday which was postponed until to-day.

T. J. Grady went to jail yes'erday in default of bail on a peace warrant issued by Justice B. A. Perry.

Cotton squares are appearing all over the county. Some of the farmers expect blooms by the 25th.

There will be a meeting of Oak City Lodge No. 419 Knights of Honor to-night. Full attendance is desired. We are forced to confess that yesterday was hot and dry-in places. We also noticed considerable dust in the Southern portion of the city. A boy driving a cow, or a cow driving a boy-it was difficult to tell which-created a little ripple of excitement on Fayetteville street yesterday. Large numbers of our home people left yesterday morning for Chapel Hill and the hotels Monday and Tuesday were crowded with people from the east bound that way. J. M. Cooley, of House's Creek township, wanted to imbrue his hands in the heart's best blood of Allison Spikes, and, to keep him from doing it, he was bound to keep the peace in a bond of $100.

The druggists of North Carolina are taking steps to form a State Pharmaceutical Association. All of the leading druggists have signified their adhesion to the plan, and a meeting to organize the Association will probably be held in Raleigh on the 11th of August.

The Raleigh book stores will hereafter close promptly at 8 o'clock, p. m. till September 1st. It is a good thing and all our merchants ought to follow this example. The days are very hot and exhausting and your clerks will do better work if you give them a little more rest.

DEPARTMENT NOTES :-

Sheriff Barefoot, of Sampson county brought Egbert Browser to the penitentiary yesterday.

Sheriff Estes, of Stokes has turned over two convicts named respectively Geo. Matthews and Jere Lash to the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad Company.

Drummers' licenses were issued vesterday to Brent, Stover & Co. of Baltimore and J. H. McLean, of St.

The Treasurer of the Penitentiary drew $10,000 from the State Treasury yesterday on account of the appropriation for that institution.

PERSONALS :-

Gov. Jarvis left for Chapel Hill vesterday. Col. Wharton J. Green and Col. T.

M. Holt are in the city. Mr. D. C. Dudley, Sr., will leave Raleigh to-day on a visit to his son in Danville, Ky.

Mr. W. J. Edwards leaves to-day for Chicago, to attend the meeting of the International Typographical Union, to which he is a delegate from Raleigh Typographical Union. We had the pleasure of seeing in our office last night Capt. R. B. Saunders, just returned from the Eastern part of the State. Captain

Saunders still represents the Brown Chemical Company, of Baltimore, and the success of that concern in this State is due entirely to his great energy and large influence and popularity, the Company being entirely unknown here when he joined forces

RALEIGH FEMALE SEMINARY .- The commencement exercises of this excellent school take place to-night. The annual address will be delivered by Prof. C. E. Taylor, of Wake Forest College. To-morrow night the grand concert will be the attraction. and the programme makes it a very great one.

PEACE INSTITUTE .- The excellent programme of the concert last night was excellently carried out. young ladies looked charmingly, played delightfully, and sang as if each one had a bird caged in her throat, It was a delightful occasion, and was most heartily enjoyed by the large crowd in attendance.

The following named young ladies took part in the exercises: Misses Creech, Hull, Edwards, E. Mitchell, H. Allen, Cutchin, Brown, L. Allen, Mock, Burwell, Faucett, Holmes, Penick, I. Mitchell, Campbell, Mc-Lean, Lacy, Rumple, McRae, Stevenson, Jordan, Long, Patterson, B. Mc-Iver, Wynne, and the young ladies composing the vocal class.

Proceedings of Dental Convention.

[Reported for THE RALEIGH NEWS.] FIRST DAY.

TUESDAY, June 1, 1880. The North Carolina State Dental Association was convened in its 5th annual meeting in the Senate Chamber, City of Raleigh, N. C., Tuesday, June 1st, at 12 o'clock, by Dr. D. E. Everitt, President.

Prayer by Rev. J. S. Watkins, and for want of a quorum was adjourned until 3 o'clock p. m.

Present-Drs. D. E. Everitt, V. E. Turner, F. S. Harris, I. N. Carr, R. D. Flemming, J. H. Newell, W. H. The Association convened at 3 r

m. Dr. D. E. Everitt, President, in the chair. The following additional members reported: Drs. J. F. Griffith, R. P. Bessent, J. D. Clause, J. H. Crawford.

The following gentlemen were presented by a committee as candidates for membership of the Association: Drs. R. D. Flemming and Isaac N. Carr, who were duly elected mem-

The following resolution was intro-duced by Dr. V. E. Turner: Resolved, That hereafter applications for active membership from persons without a diploma will not be considered without a previous examination by the State Board of Dental Examiners.

The President, Dr. D. E. Everitt, then proceeded to deliver his annual address, which was highly instructive and entertaining, and eminently practical and greatly appreciated by the Association. Invitations were received inviting the Association to visit Centennial School, Peace Institute and Raleigh Female Seminary, and attend their commencement exercises. A communication from Dr. J. B. Patrick, President National Dental Association, in regard to the next annual meeting in New York city, and consolidating with other associations, &c., was received.

A call for report of standing committees being next in order, on motion these reports were postponed until to-

Adjourned to 9 a. m. to-morrow.

MRS. Hogg's FUNERAL. - The funeral of the late Mrs. Hogg took place from Christ Church yesterday afternoon, a large congregation being present. The services were performed by the Rector, Dr. Marshall, assisted by the Rt. Rev. T. B. Lyman, Assistant Bishop of the Diocese.

The beautiful hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee," were very finely rendered by

The pall-bearers were Col. Anderson, Major Devereux, Major Tucker, Major Winder, Mr. Root, Mr. Wm. M. Boylan, Mr. A. P. Bryan, and Mr. C. M. Busbee.

After the services in the church a long procession followed the remains to Oakwood Cemetery, where they were interred. Thus has passed away one of our oldest and best citizens, one of whom we may in truth say that "she ha'h done what she could."

CHARLES N. OTEY .- The following were the proceedings of the colored young men of the city in relation to the recent death of C. N. Otey, as furnished by the Secretary of the In Memoriam. - In accordance with a previous notice, a number of the young colored men of this city met at the office of the Journal of Industry last evening, and organized them-selves into a body by the election of Mr. C. N. Hunter Chairman, and Mr. W. F. Debnam Secretary.

The chairman stated that the object of the meeting was to take into consideration the death of C. N. Otey, Esq., and to take such action as might be deemed fitting and proper in rec-ognition of the loss of so eminent a citizen, a friend, a playmate. By motion of Mr. O. Hunter, Jr., it was agreed that a memorial meeting be called for next Tuesday night as a tribute of respect to the deceased.

By motion of B. J. Edwards, Jr., it was agreed that a committee be appointed, to consist of Messrs. W. F. Debnam, B. J. Edwards, Jr., O. Hunter, Jr., W. R. Harris and F. H. Wilkins, Jr., for the purpose of drafting suitable resolutions for the occasion.

A committee of arrangements was appointed, consisting of Messrs. T. Spencer, A. L. Sumner and L. W Nash. Chas. N. Hunter, Esq., was appointed to deliver the oration and any who may desire can speak to the

Mr. B. B. Goines was appointed as Chairman, and Prof. E. H. Lipscomb as Secretary to preside at the public exercises. Mr. O. Hunter, Jr., will prepare the poem. C. N. HUNTER, Chairman.

W. F. DEBNAM, Sec'y.

A GOLD MEDAL .- An interesting feature of the commencement exercises at Peace Institute Monday night was not on the programme. It was the presentation of a gold medal to Miss Linda Rumple for diligence and proficiency in music. The medal was the gift of Prof. Bauman, and was presented by Rev. W. S. Lacy, who, in performing his pleasant duty, made a speech exactly fitting the oc-

WHAT THE WEST THINKS .--

Asheville, N. C. May 29, 1880 .- I wish to say that the communication in THE News of Thursday, May 27th, signed "West," in which the writer asserts that Judge Fowle has more than five to one over and above all other candidates" throughout our mountain counties, is as big a mistake as any writer, who is given to making false statements to the press of the State under different assumed names, could make.

The whole West is for Jarvis. It is also delighted at the change which has been made in the management of THE on the recurrence of the season when the NEWS.

SOL. REID FOR AUDITOR:-Piedmont, N. C., May 31 .- It would be well for the Democratic party to distribute the nominees for State officers among the different sections of the State. I, herefore, present the name of J of Mecklenburg county, for Auditor. The Piedmont section, containing at least onefourth of the Democratic voters of the State, is surely entitled to be represented on the State ticket. Mr. Reid is a gentleman of fine attainments, and well qualified for the position. He is a farmer by profession, and the agriculturists would feel gratified at seeing one of their number on the State ticket. It has been the custom to take a man of another profession, who owns a tract of land, and say, "he is a farmer;" no true farmer recognizes the left-handed compliment. If sections and professions are taken into consideration. no one can present higher claims than are here presented for Mr. Reid.

HALIFAX NOTES:-

Weldon, N. C., May 31, 1880.-One night last week the stable of Stephen Har rison was burned, together with his mare -his dependence for working his cropall of his corn and forage, and some of his farming tools. It was doubtless the work of an incendiary. Mr. Harrison is an honest and industrious young farmer, living about eight miles from here, and has the sympathy and, I am glad to say, the more substantial aid of his neighbors. The Medical Association of Halifax county, will meet in Weldon next Thursday, the 3d of June, and will be the guests of Dr. Isaac E. Green. These meetings and interchange of views and experience of the physicians are highly interesting and

It is exceedingly dry here, and crops are very backward, gardens are parched, grass withering, and oats heading a foot high. There have been some showers about in the country, but they have been very partial. Here in Weldon, not the fifth of an inch of rain has fallen during this whole month of May.

The Man and Brother at Chicago.

[Special to the Baltimore Sun, 1st.] CHICAGO, May 31.—Some of the col ored delegates from the back-woods who arrived to-day would neither talk Grant, Blaine nor Sherman until they had spent several hours in riding up and down in the hotel elevators. After that they put on Grant, Sherman and Blaine badges according to their predilections, and promenaded around as magnificent as peacocks. Some of the colored citizens of Chicago, discovering what big men the colored delegates are, dressed themselves up in store clothes, circulated among the Blaine and Sherman managers, proclaimed that they were delegates, and announced their willingness to be seen. In the far West, near the Mexican border, the skunk is not satisfied to be let alone, but if, in his nocturnal wanderings, he finds a cabin door open and the inmates sleeping on the floor, he has the peculiar habit of biting as many noses as he can reach. Six persons have been bitten in the vicinity of Nine Mile Bottom. One of the victims, a Spanish woman, died with all the symptoms of hydrophobia, except that she made no effort to bite others. She suffered intensely and called for water, the sight of which would throw her into convulsions. A little girl who was bitten three years ago, is ill every year

GLEANINGS FROM STATE EXCHANGES.

Mrs. Beasley, formerly of this State, has invented a new stove pan, to a description of which the Nut Shell devotes two of its valuable columns.

Nine white and fourteen colored couples en'ered upon matrimonial bus ness in Mecklenburg last month. as we learn from the Charlotte Ob-The National Republican of the 31st

May says :- "Some excitement was created at the Ebbitt House Saturday night by an altercation between two North Carolina delegates on their way to Chicago." Rowan, Forsyth and Davie, the Charlotte Observer learns, have inal Convention to support Hon. W. M. Robbins for the seat now filled by Hon. R. F. Armfield. "Ah, those dear, delightful memories of "days lang" syue." Those green days will never come back again, but we will treasure them through life, until memory ceases to do its work. The Wilmington Star has had a visit "from Jemmie Darden, son of Mr. Robert J. Darden, of Wilson county, N. C. This young man was seven years old last November, weighs one hundred pounds, is a large, stout boy, and sports quite a moustache. Jemmie is a specimen of a North Carolina boy that would "take the premium" anywhere." About the commencements, the boys and the girls, the Wilmington Star says that it takes "a real interest in the commencements that are so strangely named. It is a grand time for the young, and a not unpleasant time for the old. It is a beautiful custom-these literary and musical gatherings and festivities, and we are glad that they flourish in good old North Carolina. They cost money, but it is money generally well spent. We can never forget them:

"O were you ne'er a school boy, And did you never train, And feel that swelling of the heart, You ne'er shall feel again?"

The Greensboro Patriot says that the New Garden Agricultural Society will have a fruit exhibition at the Society's Fair grounds on the first Saturday in August next. "Guilford county is the finest fruit growing section in the State, and she ought to have an annual exhibition of her chief products. The first fruit fair ever held in North Carolina was held at New Garden. Last year, in consequence of the failure of the fruit crop, no fair was held, but this year the prospects are that there will be a fine exhibition. Fruit (except peaches,) is generally abundant, and our numerous nurseries were never more flourishing." The Biblical Recorder notes the eath, in Sampson county, on April 2, 1880, of that good man, Solomon James Faison. Mr. Faison was born December 27th, 1821, in Sampson county; entered the University at Chapel Hill in 1842, and was graduated June, 1846; studied law with Judge Strange, who resided near Fayetteville, and was admitted a member of the Bar about 1848. He very soon abandoned the practice of the law for the more quiet occupation of farming and teaching, to which in the main he devoted his life. He was a useful man and served his generation well. He was called by his fellow-citizens to represent them in the Constitutional Convention of 1875, and ably and faithfully represented his people in that body.

Of the sale of the Carolina Central Railway, the Wilmington Review says that "Mr. F. O. French, President of the First National Bank, in New York City, offered $1,200,000 for the property. This was the first and only bid, and after dwelling upon the amount offered and giving fair notice three times, the property was knocked off to Messrs. F. O. French, A. V. Graves, D. R. Murchison, James S. Whedbee and Alexander V. Stout, committee on the part of the first mor gage bondholders. The amount for which the road was sold is 40 per cent. of the amount of the first mortgage bonds. The terms of sale were $100,000 cash to be deposited in the Bank of New Hanover, and the balance to be paid in thirty, sixty and ninety days with interest at 6 per cent. from date, with the privilege of anticipating any of the payments if so desired. A cer ified check of $100,-000 on New York has already been deposited in the Bank of New Hanover, and it only remains now for his Honor Judge Avery, who is here holding the June term of the Superior Court for this county, to confirm the sale, to make the bargain complete. We suppose that the purchasers will go to work immediately to organize a new company, and we have heard Captain D. R. Murchison suggested as the person most likely to be the new President."

Justice in Egypt.

[From the New York Herald.] Telegrams from Cairo report that the trial of Mirzan for murder has begun, This man is a naturalized citizen of the United States who was formerly a subject of the Sultan and is actually a resident of Egypt. He is charged with murder, and claims his right as an American citizen to be tried by the laws and authorities of the United States. His case presents a notable illustration of the curious wisdom of ex-territorial jurisdiction. Here is an Egyptian who makes an Am rican citizenship a convenience, and actually an Egyptian he is tried in his own country by the laws and officers of a people several thou-sands of miles beyond the sea. But he is evidently not satisfied with the immunity from the laws of his own country which he thus gains. He would also like to slip through the fingers of the laws of his adopted country. His counsel objects that the law of the United States which authorizes ministers in certain cases to try crimes of this nature is contrary to the constitution, which guarantees the right of trial by jury. But the passages in the constitution refer only to trials in this country. That the United States authorities might some time try a man in Egypt was not contemplated in the constitution and was not provided for. Congress has had to provide under its general authority for such cases. It is not likely, therefore, that Mirzan will escape.

Beating a Circus.

[From the Detroit Free Press] It is believed that average humanity will do more to beat its way into a circus than it would to gain possession of a whole side show. The doors of Barnum's circus were hardly opened yesterday before an old man over 60 years of age was walking coolly in without a pasteboard. When halted he said: structed delegates to the Congression-

"Can't stop a minute-I'm looking for Phineas.' "Ticket-ticket!" cried the door man as he held on to him. "I tell you I have an engagement to meet Phineas T. Barnum at this hour, and if you stop me he may lose $5,000!" shouted the old man. "Go back and get your ticket!"

"Haven't time. "You can't go in here." "Very well, then. If P. T. loses a clean $5,000 he must blame you, and not me. He told me to call at this hour, and here town, and the old man was lifted up and dropped outside the ropes. Within two minutes a young man walked up to the door and said that he had

That settled it. Barnum was not in been promised a free entrance in consideration of the fact that he had been run over by the band-wagon.

"Show me the injury-show me the place!" called the ticket-taker, as he reached right and left for the pasteboards. "It was an internal injury," replied the

"Go away—go away—we pay for nothing that isn't visible, and we have nothing in this show which cannot be seen by the naked eye!"

A woman bought a ticket for herself, and then taking a boy fully 13 years old in her arms she wrapped a shawl around him and started in. "That's a pretty big baby you have here," said the man as she came up. "Big? Why, you ought to see his brother?" she exclaimed as the weight bent her nearly double. She started to pass in, but caught her foot and fell flat, and "baby" rolled out of the shawl in all his bigness. "Half-fare-get a ticket !" said the man s he lifted him over the ropes, and the woman added:

"Crawl under the canvas, Johnny-crawl under the canvas! You'll find me looking at the camelefants!" Before the show opened in the evening a long-haired pilgrim hunted up the manager and confidently observed: "Chance for a big rush here to-night if the thing is worked right.

"You should have some one deliver an address from a box half an hour before the address from a box half an hour before the address from a box half an hour before the ever exhibited in the city now to be found performance begins. I am called a fluent talker, a fair philosopher, and can give fifty-six different reasons why it is not wicked to attend a circus. I deliver this address and you pass me in free."

"Guess not." "Then if you don't take in enough money to enable you to leave town, and have to pawn all your animals, turn out your horses and go home on foot, don't ask to borrow any money of me, for I won't lend you a copper-not a single cop!"

Vox Populi.

[Leadville (Col.) Times.] A State street saloon-keeper takes more than a usual interest in the Presidential campaign and is continually taking "straws' and votes among his customers. There being quite a crowd in his place last Sunday night he got out his blank tickets and ballot-box and said: "Here now, you fellows, march up and vote," The crowd came promptly up to the bar and one of them said, "How do you work the blamed

"Just put down the name of one of your favorites on one of these pieces of blank paper and then put it in the box. That's all." "Oh, yes, we see." chorused the voters.

Then they voted. Here is the ballot : Whisky and shugar..... Whisky and sirrep and bitters... Samuel Tilton (barkeeper's vote) .. The precinct was promptly counted out.

Are All the Children In?

The darkness falls, the wind is high,
Dense black clouds fill the western sky,
The storm will soon begin;
The thunders roar, the lightnings flash,
I hear the great round rain-drops dash—
Are all the children in?

They're coming softly to my side: Their forms within my arms I hide-No other arms are sure; The storm may rage with fury wild, With trusting faith each little child With mother feels secure. But future days are drawing near— They'll go from this warm shelter here Out in the world's wild din; The rain will fall, the cold winds blow, I'll sit alone and long to know Are all the children in?

Will they have shelter then secure, Where hearts are waiting strong and sure, And love is true when tried? Or, will they find a broken reed, When strength of heart they so much need, To help them brave the tide?

God knows it all; His will is best; I'll shield them now and yield the rest In His most righteous hand; Sometimes souls he loves are riven By tempests wild, and thus are driven Nearer the better land.

If He should call us home before The children go, on that blessed shore, Atar from care and sin, I know that I shall watch and wait Till He, the keeper of the gate, Lets all the children in.

REV. B. SMEDÉS, A. M., Principal. MRS. C. DER. MEARES, Lady Principal. This well known school was never so com-pletely furnished in its various departments as pletely furnished in its various departments as at present. A full corps of able and experienced teachers is engaged—resident French and German ladies—musical department, both vocal and instrumental, unsurpassed. In every respect the Principal feels justified in recommending it to the patronage of parents desiring for their daughters advantages equal to any in this country, for thorough education, for refining surroundings and for careful moral and religious training.

Terms for Board and Tuition, per term of twenty weeks, $125. For day scholars from $15 to $30. The only extra charges are for Music, Art and Languages. Special students, whether boarders or otherwise, received in either of these branches.
